EXTENSION OF DRAFT APPROVED

House Passes Bill Banning Boys, 18; 'Holiday' Ordered

By DEAN W. DITTMER

WASHINGTON, June 25 (U.P.)—The army today ordered a draft "holiday" for July and August as the house passed and sent to the senate a compromise bill extending the draft, but banning induction of 18-year-olds, until next March 31.

The house approved the draft extension by a 259 to 110 vote.

Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said that even after August the army would ask that selective service provide only such manpower needs as cannot be met by voluntary enlistments.

He advised Rep. R. Ewing Thomason, D., Tex., that he and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower hope that all army needs will be filled "in the near future" solely by volunteers and that an "intensive recruiting drive" is in preparation.

The army decision not to ask for draftees in July and August means an almost total draft "holiday" in those months as navy calls have been inconsequential.

Patterson's letter was read to the house just before it approved the compromise draft extension bill. This will permit induction of 19-year-olds, but exempts 18-year-olds, all fathers and most ex-servicemen.

A few minutes previously, the house had passed and sent to the senate legislation providing pay increases for all members of the armed forces. The raises range from 60 per cent for buck privates and apprentice seamen to 10 per cent for five-star admirals and generals.

The draft extension was approved after the house rejected, 182 to 74, a motion by Rep. Dewey Short, R., Mo., to send the measure back to a senate-house conference committee with instructions to eliminate the 19-year-old group.

He said he and Eisenhower urged extension of the draft so "we will be able to carry out our occupational commitments and protect the na-

Two Vacationers Killed, Five Hurt In Three Crashes

Two persons are dead, five are injured and property damage has mounted into thousands of dollars in three nearly simultaneous automobile accidents Monday evening in Jerome and Twin Falls counties.

Coroner's inquest into the most serious of the accidents, which killed John Shenk, 52, and Jacob Bard, 67, Pennsylvania tourists, will be held at 4 p. m. today at Jerome. The men died when their sedan crashed head-on into a heavy truck driven by Sam Hansen, 56, Jerome, six miles west of Eden on state route 25 at 7:50 p. m. Monday. Their wives riding with them were injured, one seriously.

Touching off the sudden holocaust on the highways was an accident at 7:30 p. m. Monday at Hansen when a motorcyclist, Da-Von Nelson, 21, Sublett, Ida., crashed into the side of a sedan driven by Elmer Evans, Longview, Wash., catapulting Nelson 60 feet into the borrow pit. He received severe arm and shoulder injuries.

At 7:45 p. m. a sedan driven by Emma F. Jenkins, Nampa, went out of control on rough road one mile west of Buhl and slammed into a power pole, disrupting electric service in Buhl and badly damaging the car. Further details on this accident appear on page 3 of today's Times-News.

This was followed five minutes later by the tragedy between Eden and Jerome. Coroner J. R. Wiley told the Times-News Tuesday, "Two people have been killed, and an inquest will be held to determine the cause of the accident."

First man on the scene of the terrific head-on collision was George D. Brown, Boise, en route to Pocatello. He was behind the car driven by Shenk, a painter from Little Falls. Brown did not see the accident, but came upon the scene seconds after it happened.

Dead in Seat

He found Shenk and Bard dead in the front seat of the sedan, and Mrs. Shenk, 50, crumpled in the back seat with a serious skull injury. Lying on the pavement beside the car was Mrs. Bard, age 63, Denver, Pa., who was not so seriously injured and had been able to extricate herself from the nearly demolished vehicle.

Brown, assisted by two men who live near the scene, removed Bard with some difficulty from the front seat, but found that he was dead and placed him at the side of the road. Brown then left for the Twin Falls county general hospital with the two injured women.

Condition of Mrs. Shenk, who has a probable skull fracture and is suffering from lacerations, contusions and shock, is described as "fair" at the hospital. Mrs. Bard's condition is "good," and she is recovering from mild shock and bruises.

Boy, 9, in Hospital

Hansen, the driver of the 1½-ton truck which collided with the sedan, was released from St. Valentine's hospital Monday night after

Valley's FFA Boys Get Top State Honors

Magic Valley FFA judging teams walked off with top team and individual honors at the state judging contests in Moscow last week, Ralph Edwards, Twin Falls vocational agriculture instructor, declared Monday on his return from northern Idaho.

The Twin Falls judging teams won two first and two seconds in five events to win the state championship and Magic Valley schools swept the dairy judging event. Buhl won first place; Twin Falls, second, and Rupert, third, in dairy judging.

The Twin Falls team of Cecil Stanger, Scott McMaster and Neil Stiegemeier won first in milk judging and the team of Dick Adams and Stiegemeier took first in poultry judging.

Members of the Buhl dairy judging team not only took the state title but won the top three individual ratings in the state. Members of the team were Linn Capps, who won first in the state; Don Howard, second, and Ira Archer, third.

The Twin Falls team of Stanger and Lewis Arrington took second in farm machinery jugging and the dairy team of Bill Molyneaux, Adams and Stanger placed second in the dairy cattle judging.

Adams, Molyneaux and McMaster finished eighth in the livestock judging contest, the first time this

RETRENCHING

NEW YORK, June 25 — Anyone fortunate enough to obtain meat in any of the 1,000 New York delicatessens therefore must take it between two slices of bread.

The Delicatessen Store Dealers' association decided that, the meat situation being what it is, their meager stocks will be used for sandwiches only.

THEFT

SPOKANE, Wash., June 25—John A. Scott, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Spokane county sheriff, offered a $50 reward for the arrest and conviction of thieves who stole three of his big hand-painted campaign signs.

The would-be sheriff says he has no clues.

RUNAWAY

OMAHA, Neb., June 25—The dignity of Judge Perry Wheeler's South Omaha police court was suddenly shattered when a two-year-old girl, wearing only a blouse, scampered through the courtroom.

She didn't stop, leaving by the rear entrance, with her mother in close pursuit.

The runaway had been with her mother in the family welfare office across the hall from the court.

HOUSEKEEPING

CHICAGO, June 25 — A cement mixer is grinding away daily at Montrose harbor on Lake Michigan while a pair of robins—oblivious to the grinding vibrations—have set up housekeeping on the top frame of the mixer.

A few days ago, two chirping baby birds were born. Now the mother and father take turns sitting in the nest to keep the little ones warm and alternate in fetching worms.

1,500 Signers for Local Option Vote

Approximately 1,500 signatures have been obtained for petitions to place before voters initiative measures on liquor control and slot machines, the Rev. Hugh Garner, county chairman of the Allied Civic Forces, said Monday night.

The group plans to halt the sign-up as soon as petitions come in from outlying sections. Gooding county reportedly signed up more than one-half the number of voters who participated in the primary.

Ralph R. Wolf, Emmett, president of the state ACF, conferred here with the county group. The measures proposed by the ACF are repeal of the non-profit slot machine bill; granting county option on sale of liquor; making liquor advertising and locker clubs unlawful, and limiting the amount of liquor any individual may purchase.

The petitions must be filed with the secretary of state by July 3.

Officers Allege Sally Indecent

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25 (AP)

Sally Rand fanned her way into jail today.

Or maybe she bubbled into jail.

At any rate a police detail which included one of her fan and bubble dance performances—at least one of them—charged her with indecent exposure, giving an indecent performance, and exhibiting indecent pictures.

They booked her at city prison as Helen Beck, with her stage name in parenthesis, and noted her age as 42. She was released on $300 bail to appear in court later today.

It was much the same old dance as that which she made famous at the century of progress exposition in Chicago.

Navy's Plans for Farragut Blocked

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP) — A navy proposal to declare the Farragut, Ida., naval training station surplus was blocked today by Senator Morse, R., Ore.

At his request, the senate naval committee delayed action on a proposed authorization to the navy to turn the $80,000,000 facility over to the war assets administration.

Such action, Morse said, would interfere with plans of seven northwestern states to establish a college for veterans there.

Truman Okay Predicted for Bill on OPA

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP) — Chairman Spence, D., Ky., of the house banking committee today expressed belief that President Truman will sign the compromise OPA bill worked out last night by a senate-house conference committee.

In his opinion, Spence said, the bill "is workable."

The Kentuckian, who has battled for months for continuation of a strong price control law, made this statement to newsmen as the house convened for a session which probably will see a showdown vote on the OPA compromise.

Spence voiced confidence the house will approve the compromise, which is far short of what the administration asked but a good deal less stringent than it expected to get.

Left intact were price controls over meat, butter, cigarettes and gasoline, but the one-year extension of the war-born agency yanked away many of OPA's powers over the national economy. The old law expires June 30.

Although a last minute decision knocked out sections which would have ended controls over livestock, poultry, dairy products, tobacco and petroleum at the end of this month, many of the bill's provisions were written specifically to force a raise in prices.

Advocates contended that such a course would spur production and put the nation on the highway to prosperity. Stabilization Director Chester Bowles damned them in advance as "booby trap" breeders of inflation.

Indian Party Okays British Freedom Plan

NEW DELHI, June 25 (UP)—The all-India congress party today accepted the long-range British plan to make India independent, after rejecting British proposals for an interim government to rule until freedom is accomplished.

The surprise congress acceptance followed earlier approval of the long-range plan by the Moslem league. Hopes for ultimate agreement between the Indian groups and the British cabinet mission rose sharply.

Maulana Abdul Azam Azad, president of the congress party, announced that the party's working committee had sent a letter of acceptance to Viceroy Viscount Wavell. The letter was dispatched after an early morning session attended by Mohandas K. Gandhi, the party's "spiritual leader."

The congress party rejected the interim government proposals yesterday at Gandhi's insistance because of disagreement over the Moslem sexts in the temporary cabinet. The Moslem league wanted parity with the congress party and the exclusive right to name Moslem members. The congress party wanted to name one Moslem.

In Calcutta, the Morning News, a newspaper close to the Moslem league, urged Wavell to form an interim government despite the congress refusal to participate.

Three Former Pioneer League Players Die in Bus Accident

SEATTLE, June 25 (AP)—Seven members of Spokane's Western International league baseball club, three of them formerly played in the Pioneer league, met death last night in the flaming plunge of their chartered bus from the Snoqualmie pass highway in the Cascade mountains.

The bus driver and eight other players were injured, several of them critically. Among the critically injured is George Lyden, Tensed, Ida., a pitcher who played with the Twin Falls Cowboys in the Pioneer league earlier this season. He sustained head injuries and burns.

Prizes for Junior Exhibits At Fair Hit As Inadequate

Rapping at "tight fisted policies" regarding junior exhibits at the Twin Falls county fair, W. G. (Bill) Priest, county club agent, and Ralph Edwards, Twin Falls high school vocational agriculture instructor, Tuesday declared that prize money being awarded at the county fair for 4-H and FFA youths is "inadequate to attract much interest among the boys."

"Twin Falls could put on one of the best junior livestock shows in the state if we got proper backing from the powers that be," Edwards declared.

They pointed out that last year only $522 was given in prize money at 4-H and FFA exhibits to cover 225 events. No prize list for the county fair this year has been set yet, but Priest said that "fair board members have told me that the prize list would be about the same as last year."

Tom Parks, fair board secretary, said that "we want to pay all we can to the boys for premiums and I think that we are in line with other fairs in the state."

He declared that in addition to the premium list there were other expenses for the junior fair to be considered and that in line with the volume and quality of stock shown in the past few years that the premiums were "in line."

Parks said that when a tentative premium list is compiled he would gladly go over it with representatives of any agricultural group to discuss and revise it."

Edwards pointed out that the youths can not bring their stock and exhibits to the fair because they lose money even if they win first prize. He asserted that the prize money "is not even enough to pay for the hay."

At last year's fair the premiums for 4-H boys' contests totalled $227; 4-H girls' contests, $145.50, and FFA boys' contests, $142.50.

There were 109 winners in 4-H club contests and 56 winners in FFA events last year, making the average premium for each event

Congress May Refuse Relief Fund to Reds

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—A "none-for-Russia" tag on this country's $465,000,000 final contribution to UNRRA became a definite possibility today.

President Truman's disclosure that Moscow has balked at letting American correspondents report on the relief agency's activities in two Soviet republics sent influential house members into an angry huddle.

They tried before but failed to ban the use of United States funds in nations which refused to give American press and radio representatives free access to UNRRA news.

Finally they settled for a provision requiring the President to seek through "appropriate channels" to obtain admission of American correspondents to recipient countries.

"Apparently we did not go far enough and will now have to get tougher," Rep. Clarence Brown, R., O., told a reporter. "It may be that the house now will be willing to insist that no UNRRA funds supplied by the United States be used in countries which won't allow our reporters to go freely and find out how the money is being used."

Brown was one of the leaders in the [illegible] to put "some [illegible] UNRRA [illegible]

Solons Moved To Action by A-Bomb Plans

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—The threat of a United Nations deadlock over atomic energy control followed by [illegible] atomic arms race stirred congress today as the result of Russia's blunt "do-it-our-way" approach to the problem.

Leading lawmakers declared emphatically that this country is not going to surrender its A-bomb secrets until tested international controls are set up—something which the Soviet plan does not appear to guarantee.

A charge by the communist newspaper Pravda that the American plan for international control of the weapon "reflects evident striving for world rule" provoked sharp criticism from members of the senate's special atomic committee.

Calling the charge "ridiculous," Senator Russell, D., Ga., a committee member, told a reporter he thinks "the Russians should stop judging all other nations' motives by their own selfish attitudes."

"Nobody in the world has ever offered to give away so much for so little," the Georgia senator declared. "The Baruch plan is a generous proposal in which we offer to give away a development bought with our genius and our money, and we ask in return is protection for the world and ourselves against its use for destructive purposes.

"I am bitterly opposed to revealing one iota of information until we have some irrevocable plan of inspection and I think the majority of congress is in the same frame of mind. There can be no veto in the operation of such international control."

tional security if there are not enough volunteers.

Revealing the July-August draft "holiday," Patterson said it was impossible to determine in advance whether the army would be able to meet its manpower requirements in September without inductions.

He assured, however, that inductions would be held to a "minimum" if September needs cannot be filled by voluntary enlistments.

Volunteers High

Thomason told the house that if the present voluntary enlistment rate continues, he hoped it would be unnecessary to draft men in the fall.

Short argued that the pay increase bill would attract enough volunteers to make further inductions unnecessary.

He hammered at the provision for drafting 19-year-olds, arguing that teen-agers are "bold in combat, but they are not fit for policemen to do occupation duties."

Solons Compromise

Chairman Andrew J. May, D., Ky., of the house military affairs committee supported the compromise plan, although he sponsored the original house draft extension bill banning teen-age drafting. The house in the voted against drafting teen-agers, but compromised on calling 19-year-olds after the senate had approved drafting 18 and 19-year-olds.

The conference report, which also must be approved by the senate, would:

1. Extend the draft until March 31, 1947.

2. Prohibit reinduction of persons who served any period overseas or had six months service in the United States after Sept. 6, 1946.

3. Prohibit induction of fathers.

4. Set the strength of the army at 1,500,000 on July 1, 1946, and 1,070,000 on July 1, 1947.

5. Provide for discharge of all inductees having 18 months service.

2 Vacationers Dead, 5 Hurt In 3 Crashes

treatment for knee and chest injuries His son, Larry Hansen, 9, is progressing satisfactorily. He received a fractured left leg between the hip and the knee and his front teeth were knocked out.

State Police Officer E. R. Harding, who investigated with Sheriff Lee Johnson, said the position of the truck indicated that the front of the heavy vehicle was on the left side of the road when the terrific impact occurred. So devastating was the collision that there was no sign of skid marks, indicating both vehicles came to a dead stop before striking.

So great was the force of the collision that front ends of the vehicles were locked together, with the front of the truck penetrating nearly to the windshield of the lighter car. Front of the sedan was a mass of twisted steel, and the motor was hardly visible.

Died Instantly

Coroner Wiley said that neither Boyd nor Shenk ever knew what hit them, as both died instantly. Bard, who was sitting beside the driver, died from a fractured skull and a crushed chest. He also sustained a compound fracture of the left leg and a fractured left arm.

Shenk, who died from skull and chest injuries, could not be removed from the car until it had been towed into Jerome. His body was tightly wedged between the seat and the steering wheel, and one of his hands still rested on the wheel.

Mrs. Bard could remember nothing of the accident and did not know what had happened so sudden was the collision, according to Coroner Wiley.

Truck Unloaded

The front of the truck was also badly damaged, but was not so completely demolished as was the front of the other vehicle, a 1940, four-door sedan. There was no load on the truck when Hansen was driving home from Eden to Jerome.

At the time the accident occurred, the setting sun toward which he was driving might have blinded a west-bound driver.

Little is known of the past lives of the men whose mangled bodies ended so tragically. Litts and Denver are both located in Lancaster county, Pa., and Mr. Shenk met his wards while he was engaged in painting on their farm. Thereafter, they planned the ill-fated tour to Los Angeles and Oregon and were en route back to Pennsylvania when the accident occurred.

They had planned to stop in Nebraska to visit Mr. and Mrs. Shenk's daughter, who resides at Schuyler, Neb.

Both bodies rest at the Wiley funeral home at Jerome awaiting word from relatives.

Hurled 60 Feet

In the Hansen motorcycle-sedan collision, young Nelson miraculously escaped death when he hurtled 60 feet through the air and landed in a borrow pit near the intersection of U. S. 30 and the Rock creek road.

The speedometer of Nelson's motorcycle was locked at 50 miles per hour.

As reconstructed by Sheriff W. W. Lowery, who investigated, Evans was driving west on U. S. 30 and Nelson was traveling south. The motorcycle struck the front fender and running board of the car, climbing nearly over the sedan and scorching and battering the hood. The cyclist then was thrown clear, pulling off a radio aerial with his body. He narrowly missed striking a culvert. He was rushed to the Twin Falls county general hospital by ambulance where he was found to have sustained a torn collar bone joint and a double fracture of the left arm.

"Good" Condition

His condition was termed as "good" Tuesday afternoon.

Front of the sedan was heavily damaged, but the motorcycle remained nearly intact, except for tearing off a portion of one of the handbars which was found imbedded in the side of the hood of the car.

With Evans in the passenger car at the time were his wife, Bertha, and their children, Robert, 19, Phillis, 16, and Barbara, 12.

Junior Prizes At Fair Told As Inadequate

a little over $2, Priest and Edwards said. They also declared that the $2 prize money was split among the first three in each event.

Edwards declared in Cassia county the premium list for 4-H clubs only totalled "between $900 and $1,000 each year." He said that Twin Falls county has more 4-H club members than the east end county, too.

"This is our youth's best chance to show livestock and get experience," Edwards said. "They will be our farmers of tomorrow and they must get that experience."

No Encouragement

"There is no encouragement for the boys to show their stock," Priest said. "What youngster can bring in his stock and keep it at the fairgrounds for three days in hopes of winning $2?"

He said that the only way for 4-H club and FFA youths to break even on the fair was to enter several events and that for the youth with only a limited amount of stock, as most of the boys are, it was impossible.

The two agricultural youth leaders also rapped at the inadequate sheep grounds provided for junior fair sheep. They said that the space was inadequate and that "there is room enough for only about 20 livestock entries."

The section of ground between the sheep barn and an adjoining building to the left of the main gate at the Filer fairgrounds has been reserved for the 4-H club and FFA groups.

400 or More

Edwards pointed out that there are nearly 400 FFA boys from three high schools and possibly more if Kimberly gets its vocational agricultural program reorganized this year. Priest declared that there are 200 4-H club boys and 350 girls in registered clubs at present.

Priest said that the 4-H club boys would enter livestock or exhibits at the fair if enough encouragement were given, Edwards asserted.

Municipal Court Has Busy Docket

Twin Falls' municipal court docket Monday reflected a busy week-end by city police.

Max Berley, 20, Jerome, who was arrested at 1:25 a.m. Sunday, paid a $15 fine for disturbing the peace. He was charged with being involved in an altercation with Orval Brown who was also charged with disturbing the peace and who has been released under a $15 bond to appear Tuesday morning.

Charged with reckless driving is James Patrick Oliver, 20, who requested the county farm in which to answer to the charge. He is to appear today.

James E. Villey, charged with speeding, post a $20 bond.

W. B. Roper was fined $10 and assessed $3 costs on a speeding charge.

Robert Allen, also charged with speeding, paid a $10 fine and $3 costs.

Those charged with intoxication in public and dispositions of their cases are: Homer Hall, 20, Twin Falls, paid $10 fine; Max L. Galley, forfeited $15 bond; John Ellenburg, forfeited $10 bond; Harry Gage forfeited $10 appearance bond.

Those charged with traffic court were Harold Moncur and Frank Sedivy, who each paid $5 fines for failure to observe stop signs.

Agreement on OPA Includes These Points

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP) — Here are the principal provisions of the price control extension bill agreed upon late last night by a joint senate-house conference committee:

Extends OPA one year, until June 30, 1947.

Establishes a decontrol board which could override the price administrator or the secretary of agriculture for failure to take certain steps on specific commodities when an industry committee shows good cause for their removal.

Continues Subsidies

Holds subsidies to $1,000,000,000, with all food subsidies to halt by next April 1.

Price controls could be maintained on agricultural commodities only when the secretary of agriculture certified they were in short supply.

Manufacturers', producers' and processors' price ceilings would have to reflect their prices in the base period Oct. 1-15, 1941, plus average increases in unit costs in the industry since then.

Distributors, wholesalers and retailers would have to be allowed the trade markups and discounts prevailing last Jan. 1.

Full Markups Allowed

Wholesalers and retailers of "reconversion items" such as automobiles and household appliances would have to be allowed their full peacetime mark-ups and discounts.

OPA's "MAP"—Maximum average price-order would be nullified. "MAP" was designed to maintain volume production of low-priced clothing.

Special price treatment would be accorded woolen and cotton textile makers. Their ceilings would have to include cost of the wool or cotton (current cost of parity, whichever is higher), weighted average mill conversion costs, and "a reasonable profit."

Remove Ceilings

In general, price ceilings would have to be removed promptly when the supply of a commodity came into approximate balance with the demand for it. No ceilings could be maintained after Dec. 31 on non-agricultural products not important to business costs or living costs.

If controls had not been put on a commodity prior to last April 1, they could not be imposed in the future.

A delegation of farmers from weed district No. 3 will confer here with Twin Falls county commissioners on the price of 2,4-D solutions the county plans to sell.

The 40 per cent solution, which the county plans to sell for $11 a gallon, previously was sold by the county for $7.50, the weed district members said after the meeting.

And, at $7.50 a gallon, we understand the county was showing a profit of 50 cents per gallon to cover handling charges," it was explained.

The weed district delegation will seek an understanding regarding a lower price for the 2,4-D solutions, it was said.

Closed Meet Defended by Board Chief

Ernest V. Molander, chairman of Twin Falls county commissioners, said Monday that "certain persons had made misleading statements" regarding the closed meeting of the Twin Falls county hospital board which met June 18 to study complaints made by nurses regarding working and living conditions at the county general hospital.

"I have been especially criticized because the general public including some members of the press were not permitted to attend," said Molander in a signed statement.

"This meeting was called by the hospital board. It was its meeting," he continued, and "it was the desire of the hospital board that it should be a closed meeting."

The reason it was a closed meeting, said Molander, was "that each public official could feel free to express himself without being publicly quoted or misquoted, and also that we might delve into the facts and have an opportunity to inform ourselves before taking a position as we should be done."

Molander said "when the board expressed this desire that it should be a closed meeting, I felt that the desires of the board should be respected as the hospital problems are the problems of the board . . . I voted for a closed meeting."

Molander asserted "it was not the purpose of any member of the board or myself to keep any facts about the hospital from the public."

The facts "will be aired publicly" at 8 p. m. today at the county courthouse, when anyone interested may be present and hear the full details," he said.

Declaring he was "not apologizing" for his position, Molander said "it would be to the best interests of the public if certain persons would inform themselves more fully before making misleading statements to the people of this county."

Molander's written statement did not identify the "certain persons" he said had made "misleading statements."

$10,250 Sought for Damage by Water

Charging that water escaping from an irrigation pipeline has damaged their farm land, a civil suit to collect damages of $10,250, was filed Monday in district court here.

The plaintiffs are Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Koch and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Easterday, owners of 80 acres two and one-half miles southeast of Castleford.

The defendants are the Twin Falls Mortgage and Loan company, W. W. Worley, George Worley and Ethel Worley, listed as owners of nearby land where the water seeps.

The plaintiffs requested that the defendants be enjoined from diverting water into the pipeline or flowing water in the pipeline for irrigation purposes.

The plaintiffs said their crops were damaged in 1943, 1944, 1945 and 1946 due to the excess of water. Their attorney is James R. Bothwell.

County Continues Handling of 2,4-D

Twin Falls county bureau of noxious weed control will continue to sell 2,4-D to farmers, Ernest V. Molander, chairman of the board of county commissioners, said Monday.

Recently weed district No. 3 had protested discontinuance of the county sales of the weed killer because store prices were higher than the county's. It has been reported that local firms selling 2,4-D had opposed the county sales because such transactions competed with their business.

John N. Grimes, weed control supervisor, said the county has on hand a small amount of the 40 per cent 2,4-D solution which will sell for $11 per gallon.

Grimes said the county has an order in for the 20 per cent solution which will sell for $5.55 a gallon when it arrives.

Sodium Chlorate Will Be Placed

Sodium chlorate powder will be placed on the right-of-way of the county roads beginning Wednesday, said John N. Grimes, Twin Falls county noxious weed control supervisor.

Air Carriers Offer Service At Low Rates

NEW YORK, June 25 (U.P.)—The Institute of Air Transportation, an organization composed of 76 non-scheduled airlines, offered to carry the U. S. mail for three cents an ounce today and demanded a contract giving air parcel post at rates considerably below those now prevailing."

The institute, which is headed by Brig.-Gen. Lawrence J. Carr, retired, asserted that control and regulation of the non-scheduled airlines by the civil aeronautics board, which begins Aug. 1, would put the lines out of business.

The "first base carriers," as the institute referred to the non-scheduled carriers, welcome conformity to safety, maintenance and personnel standards set by CAB, the institute said. But the restrictive measures which the board would impose would "put them out of business merely because vested interests fear future competition," the IAT charged.

The "restrictive measures" as listed by the carriers prohibit "solicitation of general business, advertising flight information and information to the public about services offered."

The CAB also would limit point to point flights to 10 per month, restrict such limited operations to the North American continent and would prohibit all over-water international flights, the IAT said.

MURRAY'S DOUBLE TALK

Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O., made another of his non-sensical statements recently when he called the proposed price-control act a "complete surrender to the forces of inflation."

Congress, he said, has been considering anti-labor legislation by which it would put an end to labor disputes by destroying the rights of workers to strike for higher wages and better working conditions.

"The congress," said Murray, "could devise no better way to throw labor-management into a state of utter chaos than to remove the last bulwark against soaring prices."

The deep concern implicit in these statements is understandable and shared by many. But it does seem that a rather emotional approach to a potentially bad situation has already made it worse. In the first place, while organized workers might feel completely justified in striking for more pay, it would be the worst possible thing they could do, for their own sake as well as for their country's.

In spite of what Mr. Murray says, there are two bulwarks against soaring prices. One is price control which is an artificial measure any way you look at it. The other is abundant production, the fundamental solution to inflation. To paralyze production again by a wave of strikes in protest against the lifting of price controls would positively guarantee serious inflation, which the revoking of controls alone might not do.

Mr. Murray has no hesitancy in clamoring for higher wages, but he closes his eyes absolutely to the effect that increased labor costs have on production.

Labor is usually the chief expense item in any industry, and any 6-year-old knows that increased wages naturally add to the cost of manufactured products.

That's one of the reasons production is off in the United States today. Many of the manufacturers are doing exactly what Mr. Murray would do if he were in their shoes. They have quit producing unprofitable items. And there is no reason to expect them to resume production of such items until they can get prices that will cover their increased labor costs.

Mr. Murray is being either foolish or insincere when he suggests that congress is deliberately creating inflation in order to punish labor. However stupid or malicious Mr. Murray may think congressmen are, he surely can't believe that they don't know the inflation would punish not one group, but themselves, their constituents, and the whole country.

It would be much more sensible if Mr. Murray and other labor leaders would follow the example of the president of the A. F. of L. millinery workers' union, who has asked his members to continue their wartime no-strike pledge through reconversion, as a protection against inflation.

This country can no longer afford the type of double talk that Mr. Murray insists on putting out.

HOOSIER PSYCHIATRY

Maj.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, who runs selective service, thinks the present generation suffers from its parents' desire to see their kids have an easier childhood than Pa and Ma did. He also thinks the juvenile job of keeping the woodbox filled might have helped many of the 2,000,000 men rejected for mental instability to make a proper adjustment to life.

General Hershey is a Hoosier, and maybe that's Hoosier psychiatry. But maybe it would work. Daily chores, prescribed in moderation, are fine for disabusing the young mind of any notion that life is a tournament of roses—however much the young mind may resent them. They're fine for the young body, too. And their gradual development of the sense of responsibility necessary to any normal adult is probably as beneficial as the sense of sportsmanship developed in games.

And yet no one should know better than General Hershey how hard it is to talk some people out of the idea of pampering and sheltering the young.

Hasn't he testified before congressional committees on extension of the draft law?

SHORT DAYDREAM

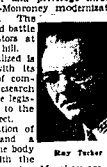

You see a lot in the papers these days about competition in the field of organized labor. The AFL and CIO are competing to organize workers in the south. Officers and divergent political groups compete for control of individual unions, and so on. All of which fills us with a hopeless yearning.

Remember competition back in the days of peace and plenty? That was usually business competition. It had a way of resulting in mark-downs, give-aways, free candy for the kids, free chinaware for the moviegoer. Maybe it was sometimes carried to economically unsound lengths—but, boy, how the customers loved it!

Now, if the unions could only arrange some such popular, morale-building dividends to embellish their current competition. . . But no—guess we'd better open our eyes, take our feet off the desk, and get back to work.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

REBUDDING—The paeans of praise accorded the honorable gentlemen of the United States senate for their pocketing political power and privilege through passage of the La Follette-Monroney modernization measure were premature. The streamlining bill faces a hard battle in the appropriations committee at the western end of capitol hill.

Ray Tucker

What is not generally realized is that the senate version, with its reduction of the number of committees, expansion of the research service and tightening of the legislative purse, does not apply to the lower chamber in any respect.

It would be a grave violation of parliamentary procedure and a usurpation of politeness for the body to attempt to interfere with the other's housekeeping arrangements. Members are extremely sensitive about these little matters.

Thus, unless the house revamps its organization and methods, it will be as if a home owner repaired leaks in his cellar without stopping holes in the roof. It is the immediate machinery of the house representative group which really needs a thorough rebuilding.

COST—What the house can do—and there is considerable cloakroom talk to this effect—is to arrogate to itself all the financial benefits incorporated in the senate measure and reject the legislative reform features.

Under the senate scheme, the members of that body will receive an increase of $5,000 a year in salary and additional patronage in the form of new clerks. It would be entirely feasible for the representatives to strike out the sacrificial provisions of the measure and retain the financial emoluments. Indeed, the so-called reformers indicated that the "bait" of more money was a powerful factor in their approval of the revolutionary proposal. For fear that the La Follette-Monroney program may not become law because of house opposition, the senators granted themselves a tax-free expense account of $2,500 annually, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1946.

House members are primarily sore over the senate's high-and-mighty handling of the questions of reorganization and additional rewards for their service. The representatives gave themselves a $2,500 expense account some time ago, but the senate rejected it for fear of public resentment, thus making their colleagues look and feel rather ridiculous.

Independent observers say the reform program does become effective, the annual additional cost will approximate $10,000,000.

PACKED—A recent backstage demonstration of how a single senate committee chairman can thwart the plan of the White House and army-navy strategists for extension of the draft convinces many congressmen that some sort of wing-ellipsis program must be adopted.

The man who has blocked the administration's selective service program, especially the enlistment of teen-agers and a longer life for the draft machinery, is Sen. Elbert D. Thomas of Utah, chairman of the senate military affairs committee. He has kept the subjects in committee for the exercise of his authority to select the kind of men serving on the senate conference committee.

In short, the ex-professor of political science and prominent member of the Carnegie peace movement "packed" the court against the administration. He is army general staff and the navy general board.

DEFIED—The number of members who shall serve on a senate or house conference committee is optional with the chairman of the committee in charge of any particular measure. Since the senate was the first body to act on selective service, the choice fell to the senator from Utah.

When he decided to name seven men to represent the senate at the conferences, which iron out differences between house and senate versions, he forced Speaker Rayburn to choose the same number. As a result of Mr. Thomas's insistence on expanding the size of the final deliberating group, the conference committee became hostile to the more effective measure demanded by President Truman and his military and naval aides.

In arranging such a setup, Senator Thomas virtually defied the mandate of the senate, which had enacted the administration program with only minor changes by a vote of 68 to nine.

TANGLE—When even this ruse faced failure because a house member — Rep. Overton Brooks of Louisiana—shifted from the opposition to the administration side, Andrew Jackson May of Kentucky, chairman of the house military affairs committee, resorted to strategy so questionable that it has evoked sharp criticism. Mr. May held the proxy of Rep. Walter G. Andrews, a New York Republican now heading for the Bikini atom bomb test, as a congressional observer. Although Mr. Andrews had headed the fight in the house for a strong and effective selective service in accordance with the Truman-Eisenhower-Marshall-Nimitz-Hershey recommendations, the Kentuckian voted his proxy in the negative.

Thus two committee chairmen from Utah and Kentucky were able to tangle the congressional machinery, although it is expected that quick recovery by the White House may save the measure. President Truman ordered the navy to radio Mr. Andrews for instructions that he be voted according to his known views.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

NEBRASKA'S EXPERIENCE

Nebraska, which has fathered many political innovations and mostly sound ones too, tried a new scheme this year in an effort to improve the operation of the direct primary system.

The strength of the primary is that it places the power in the hands of the people, where power obviously belongs, but its weakness in practice is that the voters often do not know the candidates or what they stand for, if they stand for anything. The result, as our own voters well know, is sometimes fantastic. A well known name can almost always beat an unfamiliar one, and a name can be made well known by simply running for something every time.

The present Nebraska system is to have both parties convene before the primary and make first and second choice endorsements, these candidates' names and the fact of their endorsement to appear on the primary ballot together with any others who wish to file, giving the people the final say.

This was tried out last week for the first time in the Nebraska primary and the people there seem to have the same confidence in their leaders that our own Republicans showed when they nominated Dr. C. A. Robins over the much better known C. A. Bottolfsen. In each case the men endorsed by the Republican and Democratic conventions was endorsed by the voters and none of the contests were close.

It may be assumed that the party conventions were on their guard and tried to put up slates that would merit popular endorsement. Maybe they will not always do this, but they know what is likely to happen if they don't, therefore will be on good behavior as they would not be if the convention had the final say.

We imagine that Nebraska, which has shown how to govern without income or sales taxes or state debts and which pioneered a successful one house legislature, has furnished another idea of merit.—Nampa Free Press.

SPEAKING OF EXPERIMENTS

Admiral Halsey, grand old sea dog that he is, has so reversed his previously favorable stand on the unification of the armed services that he writes: "The army and air forces now want to abandon a proved system for one that, at best, can be only a theory. They want to substitute an untried experiment for a system that won."

That, as we remember it, was almost precisely the basis of navy doubts about John Ericsson's little ironclad, the Monitor. But "the cheese box on a raft," the untried experiment, saved the day after the Merrimac knocked to splinters the "proved" wooden vessels—the vessels that had won, but couldn't meet the new challenge.—Milwaukee Journal.

PEGLER

NEW YORK—I have seen better fights between man and wife than the clash of the lithe, lean, finely-conditioned bodies discovered by Joe Louis and Billy Conn. But, in the words of my learned brethren of the sporting side, I have to file my report in opinion insisting that nobody was robbed, even though some of the $100 clients lost sight of Conn when he went down and had to rely on hearsay in deciding whether he couldn't get up or just didn't want to.

Westbrook Pegler

This obscurity was caused by the sudden uprising of the people in the outward seats who shut off their view down to the second strand of the ropes. It always happens at the expensive championship fights and anyone who wasn't forewarned that the closing spectacle would be denied him in that area, should have been.

I recall that, although I often found issues which commanded my inexhaustible admiration when I was doing sports in the era of wonderful nonsense, and carried on stridently over enormous trivialities of the hour, I never wasted any sympathy on the customers, even when the production was a mockery, or fake, as some of them were.

A prizefight ticket is a luxury, paid for, I have heard, in some cases, by the old, reliable common man, through his taxes, where firms or individuals entertain customers or cultivate profitable connections and charge off the hospitality as business expense in their income tax returns. Though the fight bull and even sometimes the fight itself, is the occasion for much social activity and a gratifying indulgence of vanity.

There are those among the carriage-trade who feel that they must have seats in the ring-side section, and nowhere else, as a means of advertising to their rivals in the arts, commerce and society that they are still prosperous. Actors, producers and politicians make it an occasion to be pointed out, always a pleasant experience to those who enjoy being pointed out, and personal mention in the running stories is an extra dividend on the price of admission.

There is a strange excitement in these shows which I never was able to account for, quite apart from the excitement actually caused by a good fight, such as Dempsey's natural brawl with Luis Angel Firpo and the astounding impudence of Gene Tunney in walking around across the ring at the first bell to hit Dempsey a right smash on the left cheek-bone which gave him an eye like an egg-plant.

I always went early and left late. At Philadelphia, I bought a raincoat and rain began in the first round, but was forgotten in the demolition of Dempsey by a fighter I had under-rated, that I remembered it only when I noticed my mechanical writer into the casket about midnight and got up, soaking, to discover the coat under foot.

Jim Kilgallen, of the International News, sitting beside me, was violently sick just before ring time and when I gave him a look, he said: "Don't look at me that way. I haven't had a drink in weeks. The excitement got me."

That was a newspaper man of great experience at large events and this was before the fight began.

Two of the mockeries that I covered were so artistic and dramatic that I remember them distinctly whereas most of Paul Berlenbach's great and honest performances and some of Johnny Dundee's, but none of Harry Greb's or Dempsey's, are a blur. Jack Johnson was ended in the 12th with a champion triumphant, I thought, and so did the customers, but I had seen a good, clean knockout for the other fellow went down twitching and his head lolled for several minutes after his handlers took him to his corner.

Several weeks later, Patsy Haley, the referee, told Jim Farley, then chairman of the prizefight commission that, in the last seconds of the 11th, he heard the champion grunt, "next round" and the other one agree.

In the other, a light heavyweight who was one of the most beautiful men ever exposed to public view but an incorrigible drunkard, came into the Garden ring soused and went out in two rounds, beaten by a fellow who couldn't have split his lip under straight conditions. I smelled this one at the time and called it a mockery but not in anger, for I had enjoyed an unusual sight.

This may have been wrong of me for most of the patrons thought they had seen a great fight and wanted to believe they had. I notice the same pathetic obstinacy in many citizens nowadays who want to enjoy beautiful illusions of political heroes and resent proof that they gave their trust, amounting even to adulation, to trifling imposters.

If a client has a price, he has had his money's worth when he has seen Joe Louis not only as a fighter but as a sportsman who must be, first of all, a gentleman. Chance is always throwing him into positions in which his fineness is tested and he never fails. Even when Schmeling hit him accidentally, after the bell and shook him so badly that he lost the fight by a knockout, he claimed no foul and excused it as an accident.

Only once has he shown rancor, when Schmeling, now adopted by Hitler, came back to fight Louis again and said Louis knew he couldn't win because he was a "nicker" and recognized Schmeling as a member of the master race.

That night in the stadium, Louis fought in anger, not merely to beat an opponent but to crush and humiliate an enemy and he did.

BOB HOPE

Hollywood is back in the groove again. The other night a six-cent hot-dog stand had its opening with a battery of four searchlights, eight movie stars, and a crowd of 700 tourists. There was so much excitement that several people passing by thought it must be a strike and started picketing.

Bob Hope

This particular hot-dog stand is built in the old California tradition. It is shaped exactly like a huge hot-dog on a roll. (With the owner in the middle and the prices on top). It is really a delicatessen-looking, Sidney Greenstreet walked by and broke three teeth on it.

But there were a lot of movie stars there and they were very busy signing autographs in loose mustard. And afterward they had them make an impression of their footprints in a bowl of damp plaslill.

It's really a pretty ritzy place. Instead of calling their products hot-dogs, they refer to them as "high-fahrenheit lassies."

Crosby dropped around and for a while their frankfurter business dropped off to nothing. Then they explained he was just a guest and put up a notarized statement saying that they got all their meat from a regular butcher.

Sinatra showed up but he had a little trouble. Someone yelled, "There's Frank" and a beer-sighted woman from Pomona slapped a bun around him and covered his shirt with catsup.

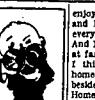

And this place has a lot of fancy Hollywood hot-dogs. They call one the "W. C. Fields special"—It's a Bourbon label rolled up and stuffed with olives and maraschino cherries.

POT SHOTS

THEY'LL MAKE UP FOR THE WASTED PIE

Dear Pot Shots:

In reply to that Eden reader (presumably a housewife) who protested as a waste of food the pie bet between myself and Twin Falls Jaycee President L. H. Haslam, I wish to explain that we have no intention of starving anybody.

The bet, as you recall, is that if the DAV rodeo queen candidate gets more votes than the Jaycee entry, I push a pie in Haslam's face the night of July 4 in the rodeo arena when the queen is crowned. If the Jaycee girl gets more votes than the DAV candidate, then I get the pie in the face.

If I lose the bet I promise to forego breakfast and lunch the day I get the pie in the face. I'm sure Haslam will do the same if he loses.

The regional manager and the public relations officer wish to encourage talks by contact representatives before luncheon clubs and other clubs in your area, strictly on problems of veterans administration and service to veterans and their dependents. HERE'S A WOMAN PLUS
On Fishing Trip

Pot Shots:

We bought a paper at a Carey drug store near here last night and I turned, as usual, to your column first. And there was a letter from "Another Dreamer."

So, if all the dreamers will move over this dreamer will have her say-so.

I don't smoke, drink or use bad language. I'm considered a fair looker with an "it" personality. I can get all the fellows I want but I don't want the kind of fellow the world is breeding today. I wouldn't have one of the cigarette-puffing "licker"-fogged brain of a poor excuses for a gift. They aren't intelligent. The best they have to offer is a string of oaths, unclean stories. If our nation is in the hands of this and, "when can we get a drink?" young generation a few years from now, God pity this old world.

I like a good time. I can get real enjoyment from all out-door sports, and I love good movies, music and everything else that's wholesome. And I'm not afraid to soil my hands at farm work, or in the house. And I think woman's place is in the home, and her husband's is there beside her when his work is done. Home is their joint love.

I believe they should put themselves out to enjoy each other's favorite pleasures and find entertainment together. I don't believe they should go to pool halls or night clubs where whisky soaked morons are leaning on each other's shoulders, but should stay away from all evil influences. They should keep decent hours, feel proud of each other and always keep the spark of love lighted its brightest, and refuse to do anything that would bring unhappiness to the other.

But is there a man who believes as I do? I've never found one.

—Dreamer No. 3

GENEALOGY

Dear Pot Shots:

Joseph H. Blandford, our esteemed attorney, delved into some family history recently when a sleuth asked him if he's related to Joseph H. Blandford, Maryland manager of the Famine Emergency committee. The sleuth had spotted an item about the food official in the Baltimore Sun. Joe's note to the sleuth disclosed the following information:

"Joseph H. Blandford I, Brandywine, Md., was my grandfather. "Joseph H. Blandford II, Maryland manager of the Famine Emergency committee, is my uncle.

"Joseph H. Blandford III is J."

Four 4-H Groups Meet at Jerome

JEROME, June 24 — Four 4-H clubs in Jerome county met recently. Donald Thibault, president, conducted the Grandview Calf club meeting. Members reported on the progress of their calves.

An open discussion on two topics, "Feeding the Young Calf" and "Teaching the Calf to Lead" was held by members of the Canyonside Champion club. Pamphlets on Holstein calves and minerals for livestock were distributed. Melvin Skiver, president, was in charge.

Evangeline Meln and Corolee Beer presented a program of music and games at a meeting of the Canyonside Stitchers. Delores Morton presided. The group will meet again June 29, when they will learn the button-hole stitch.

A class on posture was featured at a meeting of the Nifty Stitchers. Arlene and Phyllis Erickson gave a demonstration on the hot pad. Mrs. Earl Clark demonstrated fitting and cutting apron patterns.

Republican Club

"Our government is rapidly being sovietized," Larron Colston told members of the Twin Falls country Republican Women's club Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Colner. In his address on "Americanism vs. Communism," Colston exemplified his statement by discussing the CVA.

"The CVA would be controlled by three men, none of which would necessarily come from this section, and they might be the same three men who controlled the other authorities," Colston said.

He stressed that unions had been sovietized. "Millions pay dues and have practically nothing to say on the running of the union."

In conclusion the speaker spoke of the farm program broadcast over KVMV from 7:30 to 8 p.m. each Wednesday. He announced that beginning July 3 the broadcasts would be made in the Idaho Power company auditorium. The audience will participate.

NEA Sports Writer Urges Joe Louis to Retire Now As Undefeated Heavyweight Champion

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 25 — Joseph Louis Barrow has made many a smart move since winning the heavyweight championship. Joe Louis could and should climax them all by retiring now.

No heavyweight ruler was more richly entitled to retire undefeated.

There is no worthy challenger in sight.

Louis is well past his peak. By another year the Brown bomber will be 33, an old man as prize fighters go.

JOE LOUIS

As retired undefeated champion, Louis' popularity would expand and his value would be considerably enhanced, which might be the opposite if the Alabama-born Negro were to continue on and suffer the inevitable downfall which overtakes all who carry on to the end.

The inconsistence of the average fan and especially so-called experts in magnifying the winner's performance while decrying the efforts and general debility of the loser is a source of continual amazement to me.

Following the Louis-Conn debacle boxing writers united in an anvil chorus labeling Billy Conn a pseudo pretender, whom anyone of a half dozen second rate heavyweights could have whacked around.

It stands to reason that if any ordinary stumblebum could lick Conn, the brilliance of Louis' victory must be a bit tarnished. The fight proved nothing more than the Collar Ad is washed up. The Pittsburgh Adonis had so little he couldn't even prove how good was the Louis of 32.

The so-called fight brought out nothing about the Brown Bomber's ability and stamina following a five-year layoff. Smoky Joe might as well have fought me. He ambled through what was advertised as a contest with the same effort he would expend in a jaunt through the park. He didn't even have to tire himself with his own efforts.

There's no question but that Louis has gone back considerably from his 1941 form, and he'll be a year farther away in his next outing.

Jerome at Twin Falls VFW
Filer at Murtaugh

WESTERN DIVISION

Hagerman at Mountain Home
Glenns Ferry at Wendell

Cowboys' P. L. Lead Cut To 3 Percentage Points

By MAJOR HOOPLE

IDAHO FALLS, June 25—Three percentage points and pitcher Van Carlson's good right arm was all that stood between the Twin Falls Cowboys and Idaho Falls and a tie for the leadership of the Pioneer league, which they held by three full games when they left on their trip on June 14. In games won and lost, they really were tied with the Salt Lake City Bees, who defeated the Boise Pilots, while the Cowboys were dropping their fifth encounter in the last six games—last night to the Idaho Falls Russets, 2-1.

In the hope that his Wranglers could come home in first Wednesday night to begin a five-game stand against the Ogden Reds at Jaycee park, Manager Earl Bolyard named Vance Carlson, his red-haired right-hander, to hurl the finale of the five-game series here tonight.

The Russets called upon Les Logg and the right-handed pitcher delivered a five-hitter to give the home team a 2 to 1 victory.

Harry Fowle of the Cowboys also pitched five-hit ball, and it was his mates' hitting slump that was to blame for the league-leaders' defeat. The victory was Logg's first to three defeats, and Fowle's defeat was his fourth to three wins.

Manager Earl Bolyard, who went in as a pinch-hitter, struck out in the ninth inning after the visitors had loaded the sacks to end the last Cowboy threat of the evening.

Idaho Falls scored its first run in the fourth as Jay Ragnl hit a double and came in on third baseman Hill's single. A walk and two successive singles gave the Russets the winning run in the fifth.

Dale Jensen drew a walk, and Fowle drove him in with a screaming double in the second for the Cowboys' only run. Fowle got two of the Wanderer hits.

The ninth inning threat began as Harry Heslet, leading the league in home runs, singled and went to second on a wild pitch. Hal Loewe drew a walk, and then, after Logg had fanned Bert Bonomi and Jensen, Wickert drew another walk to fill the sacks. Bolyard's strikeout followed.

Cub Pack Track Events Are Held

Climaxing a six-week preparation in track and baseball 130 Cub Scouts representing six packs met Monday afternoon at Lincoln field for the second annual Cub Scout field day. A large group of parents was present for the events and the picnic which followed.

C. E. Young, Cub Scout commissioner, and Ira W. Mills were assisted by Morrie Roth, assistant city recreation director. Awards were provided by the district Scout committee. Boys participating represented Pack 1, Lincoln school; Pack 2, Washington school; Pack 3, St. Edward's parochial school; Pack 60, Twin Falls Baptist church; Pack 7, Lincoln school, and Pack 42, Kimberly.

With Bobby Wheeler as pitcher Pack 4 ran up a 16 to 4 score against Pack 2 in the baseball game which was a final game of a Cub series.

Ribbon awards were made for first, second and third winners in each of the track events, which were divided into three age groups.

First honors were taken by Howard Takahashi, Garth Tyler and Johnny Sherwood Chapman in the 75 yard dash; Gordon Huston, Duane Loveland and Billy Crow, 50 yard dash; Keith Cardin, Wayne Brown and Jim Winterholer, broad jump. Ronald Elders, Ray Fowler and Gordon Burgess, sack race; Tommy O'Halloran and Frank Cahill, three legged race and Gary McBeth and Fred Sterling, high jump.

Following the track events the boys joined in a snake dance, presentation of colors and singing of Cub and patriotic songs.

Planned for August is a Cub circus with Scouts building imaginary animals and planning circus acts, according to Mr. Young. Cub leaders will meet at 8 p. m. Friday in the city park to discuss plans.

One Big Frame Gives Purves' Team Victory

Pitcher Woods did not yield a hit nor run in six of the seven innings that his Buhl American Legion team played with Coach Ed Purves' Twin Falls Legion junior last night but the one frame was enough to give the latter a 7-5 triumph.

Twin Falls made five hits, including a resounding double by Buddy Howard, in scoring the five runs in the fifth inning.

Buhl took a three-run lead in the first inning when they made one of their two hits off pitcher Phil Burkhart. Burkhart yielded another hit in the third inning and southpaw Bobby Long hurled the four remaining hitless frames.

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP) — Leading stocks turned irregularly lower in today's market but pressure never was pronounced and dealings were among the slowest since last March.

Initial advances were reduced or cancelled in most cases in the final half hour and, at the close, losses of fractions to 2 or more points predominated. Transfers were in the neighborhood of 900,000 shares as the pace quickened a bit approaching the finish.

Grant of a pig iron ceiling lift enabled Republic Steel to end a trifle higher. Modest improvement was retained by Youngstown Sheet, Bethlehem, Goodrich, International Harvester, Parke Davis (on an increased quarterly payment) and Texas Co. Crop Duster Hits Eden Phone Line

A crop-dusting airplane from Parma that was temporarily based at the Twin Falls airport struck utility lines near Eden Saturday afternoon, but the pilot and plane escaped unscathed.

No interruptions in service were reported to telephone or power company repair units as result of the incident, indicating that the lines involved were part of a private telephone system.

Grain

CHICAGO, June 25 (AP)—All grain futures held at ceiling prices today, after an opening flurry in oats temporarily knocked September and November deliveries from the ceiling. Absorption was good, however and within a short time the offerings dried up and all deliveries were back at the top.

Traders marked time during most of the session, and watched both old and new crop rye at Winnipeg advance the 5 cent daily limit.

At the close corn, oats and barley were at their respective ceilings, $1.46½, 88c and $1.35*.

Aussies Suggest Joint Atom Plan

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP) — Australia put forward today a proposal to set up one master committee to draft plans for atomic energy control and reconcile, if possible, the bitterly contested points of divergence in the separate programs proposed by the United States and Russia.

The Australian plans appeared to lean toward the United States' program calling for a supreme control factor which would emerge eventually as the international atomic development authority proposed by Bernard M. Baruch.

It opposed the Russian proposal to set up two separate committees, the first for exchange of scientific information on atomic developments among the United Nations and the second to be concerned solely with atomic control.

Buell Warner Gets Last of Resort Okays

Twin Falls county amusement resorts outside of incorporated towns reached the newly-set maximum of seven Monday afternoon.

The county commissioners granted a resort license with restricted opening hours to Buell Warner, Twin Falls ex-serviceman, to operate an establishment on Elizabeth boulevard east of Twin Falls. The board immediately passed another resolution ruling that seven amusement resorts in the county is all that the population of the county warrants. Under this resolution, the board will not entertain any further applications for amusement clubs until such time as the population increases or possible changes are made in state law.

License No. 7

Warner's license is No. 7 granted by the commissioners in areas outside incorporated communities. The board has no jurisdiction in the matter within corporate limits.

The maximum of seven, it was pointed out by Chairman Ernest V. Molander and Commissioner Kenyon Green, gives a ratio of approximately one amusement resort to each 6,000 population.

Warner's license was granted on reconsideration of his request for a permit to operate the resort he planned on Elizabeth boulevard beyond the baseball park. Acting on his reconsideration plea, the commissioners approved his license with a specific stipulation as to opening hours of his club.

10 A. M. Opening Time

Because of the number of children living on and near Elizabeth, the board stipulated that his license will not permit opening of the club nightly until 7 p. m. from April 1 to Nov. 1. The 10 p. m. hour corresponds to the Twin Falls curfew for children. Commissioner Green pointed out. From Nov. 1 until April 1 the opening hour was set at 7 p. m.

Closing hours are to be the same as those for the other six clubs—2 a. m. from April 1 to Nov. 1; 1 a. m. from Nov. 1 until April 1.

The ex-GI earlier was refused a club license for a projected resort southwest of town, with the highway traffic hazard stressed. He had also failed to secure a license for his Elizabeth boulevard club two months ago because, the commissioners said Monday, district court litigation concerning a license for the Turf club was pending at the time. The Turf club license was later granted after the court dismissed a suit against the commissioners and operators of that club.

Bridge Ruled As Unsafe to Heavy Trucks

After ruling that the Shoshone street bridge over Rock creek is unsafe for heavy vehicles, and acting on varied routine business, the Twin Falls city commissioners recessed last night until 7 p.m. Wednesday. At that time they will open bids on sale of $750,000 in bonds for four city improvement projects approved by the voters.

In condemning the Rock creek bridge for use by heavy vehicles, the council decided to erect signs warning truck drivers that they use the span at their own risk.

Truman T. Greenhalgh, city streets commissioner, was authorized to call for bids on street oiling projects recently surveyed and found necessary.

With approximately $28,000 available for the street oiling program, the council contemplates placing of resealing costs first. Then will come work on oiling streets with curbs which have not been previously oiled. This will be followed by widening approaches to the city at North and South Washington street and Blue Lakes south.

Improvement of the Shoshone street bridge is temporarily delayed by lack of material and it was indicated that it may be necessary to send to Oregon to obtain sufficient lumber to replace the worn-out decking. An effort is also being made to obtain steel for use as decking.

Jim Hayden, a taxi driver recently fined for speeding and failure to observe a stop sign, was placed on 30 days probation by the council, and he is to report back to the commissioners at the end of that period.

Cooperating in the meeting of the western conference of fish and game commissioners in Twin Falls next month, the council approved construction of a barbecue pit at Harmon park for use during one of the recreational phases of the three-day conference July 16.

Don Knocke was appointed as parks assistant by the commissioners.

Seminar Draws 500 Lutherans

More than 500 Lutherans from throughout Magic Valley attended a seminar Sunday at the Twin Falls high school auditorium sponsored by the Laymen's league of the Clover Lutheran church. Principal speaker was Prof. M. A. Rehwinkel of Concordia Theological seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

The speaker drew a parallel between present problems and those of Biblical times. He pointed out that there are no "just" wars and the problems over which wars are fought are never solved by conflict.

Church members from Buhl, Gooding, Eden, Jerome, Rupert, Burley, Clover and Twin Falls attended. Following the address, an open forum discussion was conducted by Melvin Opplinger, Buhl. It is planned to hold such a seminar annually to make laymen more aware of their duties and opportunities, Opplinger said.

Professor Rehwinkel instructs church history and systematic theology at Concordia. He is a member of the "speakers bureau" sponsored by the national church headquarters in St. Louis. The bureau includes 26 speakers composed of professors, pastors and laymen who are prepared to deliver addresses at forums throughout the country.

Roberts Accepts Seven-State Post As Rifle Referee

Joe L. Roberts, range master of the Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol club, has accepted appointment as official National Rifle association referee for seven western states. He pointed out that these duties will not interfere with his work as clerk of the Twin Falls selective service board, as he will officiate at rifle and pistol matches only on week-ends.

The appointment was made by F. C. Daniel, Washington, D. C., and Roberts will referee matches in Idaho, Montana, Washington, Oregon, Utah, Nevada and Wyoming for the balance of this year.

Sunday night he returned from Salt Lake City where he refereed the fifth annual intermountain small bore rifle tournament on the Ft. Douglas army range. Scores made were not good because of unfavorable weather, he reported upon returning.

Arraigned for Felony

Jim Locke, 20, Twin Falls, was arraigned on a felony charge, grand larceny, Monday in the court of Probate Judge C. A. Bailey.

The preliminary hearing was set for 2 p. m. Tuesday. Locke was represented by Attorney Ray D. Agee. The offense involves a purse allegedly stolen from Mollie M. Miller, according to the complaint.

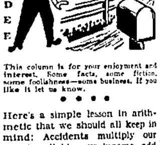

Locke was released on $500 bail.

Traffic Checks Held By County Officials

In conjunction with local law enforcement units in the communities in which operations were conducted, the Twin Falls county sheriff's traffic patrol department made spot checks of traffic violations Saturday in east and west ends of the county.

In the afternoon the check-ups centered at Filer and Buhl, and in the evening at Kimberly. In the east end community, eight violators were apprehended.

This column is for your enjoyment and interest. Some facts, some fiction, some foolishness—some business. If you like it let us know.

Here's a simple lesson in arithmetic that we should all keep in mind: Accidents multiply our worries, divide our income, add to our discomfort and subtract from our peace of mind.

Say folks don't put off buying your BINDER TWINE like some of you did the hay twine. We have BINDER TWINE now so come and get it.

Man may be able to harness the mighty rivers for water to control the drouth for his crops . . . but after all it's God who has the last word regarding frost, and the weather.

New shipment of heavy Galvenized Pails, for milk, water or feedings. You know what they are for. Yes, we still have some 4 gallon size pressure sprayers, ideal for garden and home orchard spraying.

Not every woman can afford to wait for the right man to come along—It's more profitable nowadays to get a good paying job and let the man question wait.

Still selling SLEEPING BAGS, have 'em in various weights and sizes. Priced right too.
How about getting the wife one of these new ALL METAL KITCHEN CABINETS?

Today we have hopes of a brighter tomorrow, in the way of regular Air Freight out of our Magic Valley, equalizing our freight rates to those of other great agricultural centers. Such a hope to go beyond the dream stage needs full co-operation of every one if it's to be a reality.

More new light fixtures and lamps arrived this week. See them for all rooms.

Reserve Unit of Navy Looms Here

Possibility that an inactive naval reserve will be organized in Twin Falls was expressed Tuesday by CTM S. D. Lueckert, navy recruiter. Efforts are being made to organize a statewide naval reserve unit with headquarters in Boise.

Chief Lueckert said that those eligible to participate in the program are navy veterans of World war II who are discharged under honorable conditions. No physical or mental examinations are required.

Members of the inactive reserve chapter here would participate in an annual cruise each summer with full duty pay of their ratings, Chief Lueckert explained. The cruise would be two weeks long. Members of the inactive reserve would serve as a reserve force to mobilize a large navy in event of a national emergency.

The men would benefit by the retention of longevity benefits and regular advancement [illegible] Lueckert said.

Those interested in [illegible] reserve program may [illegible] details at the [illegible] tion here.
